Mississippians with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

South Mississippi Regional Center (SMRC) has utilized Video Introductions to help new providers support a person through transitions from facility care to a community-based care setting. SMRC believes a positive transition is more likely to occur when the receiving provider feels they know the person whom will be in their care. Providers need to feel confident in what they are doing to help alleviate the fears of the person transitioning to the new living environment. The video format, complete with specially selected music, conveys important information about a person in a meaningful way.
